

Hey there!

Thanks for purchasing Dusty Rose font. For better results please install & use the .otf file.
If for some reason you need .ttf files, you can download it here:

DustyRoseRegular <https://www.dropbox.com/s/4rjxjkk93ytp08h/DustyRose--Regular%20.ttf?dl=0>
DustyRoseLines <https://www.dropbox.com/s/h4h1yc2p242te8d/DustyRoseLines.ttf?dl=0>

If you want to use DustyRoseLines font - just install it as a normal font and then when you type something - you'll see lines. You can find chart with letters and numbers corresponding to the specific lines in the archive.

If you have questions regarding this product don't hesitate to contact me via info@zakharovaolga.ru

To check out more hand-lettering stuff, product previews & giveaways follow me on Instagram:
<https://www.instagram.com/faveteart/>

PUA code

Dusty Rose is a encoded font - that means that you can access all special characters such as alternates through Windows and Mac without having any specific software that supports open type features.

How to access extra glyphs?

On Windows:

1. Install the font as you normally do (in case it's your first time - open font folder, double click on .OTF file, the font installation window will open - click «install»)
2. Open Windows Character Map. This application is included on all Windows computers. To access Character Map just hit the windows bar and start typing "Character Map".
3. Open the application and in the "Font" dropdown, select the font you want to use and make sure the "Advanced View" box is checked.
4. In the "Group by" dropdown select "Unicode Subrange"
5. In the "Group By" menu that opened on the right side, scroll to the bottom and select "Private Use Characters".
6. After that on the left side you'll be able to see all the PUA encoded characters. If you want to use one of the characters click "Select" and after click "Copy". Now you can go to any application and ctrl+v the character - that's how you do it :-)

On Mac:

1. Install the font as you normally do
2. Search for a program «Font Book» (it's a standart program that is installed to all mac computers, just start typing it's name in the search field)
3. Open Font Book and click View on top of your screen, then choose «Repertoire». You'll see all the characters included in the font that you select.
4. In order to use some character select it and click "Edit" and "Copy" or "CMD + C".
5. Go to any applicaton where you want to use the character and right click and paste or "CMD + V".

That's all!

PS If you want to share your designs made with my products please tag me @faveteart I will be super-grateful ;)

Cheers,

FavTeaRT